

CLASSMATES

Ernest Wilkes, actor-manager, came to Salt Lake last week to appear with his own company in "Classmates," and to take the part of Bert Stafford, a role which he played with the original production at the Hudson theatre, New York, for an entire season. He afterwards appeared with Norman Hackett in the original road production, in which Mr. Hackett starred as Duncan Irving.

The big third act is one of the most elaborately staged productions in modern drama.

Mr. Wilkes and Mr. Hackett are said to do splendid team work in "Classmates."

The patrons of the Phil-harmonic orchestra which will be heard tomorrow at the Salt Lake theatre are: Mrs. Sol Siegel, Mrs. A. H. S. Bird, Mrs. O. J. Salisbury, Mrs. L. B. McCornick, Mrs. C. E. Groesbeck, Mrs. Frederick Cowans, Mrs. J. T. Keith, Miss Mayme Noble, Mrs. Karl Scheid, Mrs. J. A. Hogle, Miss Norinne Thompson, Mrs. F. C. Schramm, Mrs. Lewis Sowles, Mrs. R. W. Salisbury, Mrs. Ernest Bamberger, Mrs. C. W. Whitley, Miss Kate Williams, Miss Mildred McMillan, Mr. Rodney T. Badger, Mr. Tracy Y. Cannon, Mr. B. Cecil Gates, Mr. Royal W. Daynes, Mr. Thomas Giles, Mr. Squire Coop, Mr. Horace Ensign, Mr. R. L. Sweeten, Salt Lake High School Orchestra, L. D. S. U. Music Department, U. of U. Music Society, All Hallows College Orchestra.

The Phil-harmonic orchestra is an organization which means a great deal to Salt Lake and which is allowed to get along as best it can because most of those who pretend to be artistic, forget it. It is up to everybody musically inclined to not only attend these concerts, but interest themselves in the work that is being done by the musicians who not only guarantee their services, but the expenses incident to any of the concerts they give.

At the Liberty theatre next week, the gross receipts will be devoted to charity. A new idea in local entertainments and one which should make an instant appeal to those interested in such work. H. A. Sims of the American, Liberty and Rex theatres received a wire during the week from W. H. Swanson notifying him to make this announcement in accord with the Swanson policy.

It is unique in the history of charitable events in Salt Lake. Heretofore there have been strings attached to anything given for charity. In Mr. Swanson's announcement he says "gross receipts," and that is about as far anyone can go.

Musical people of the city will enjoy a rare treat the coming week in the concert to be given under the direction of the Musical Arts society by Mrs. Lucia Lilli Dunham, the wonderful interpreter of folk songs. The membership of the society, which is still less than three hundred, is rapidly growing and the aggregation of musicians and music lovers promises to work wonders yet in local circles. Already at a cost which is really negligible in comparison to the attractions offered, the society has given to its members some of the finest music heard here in years, including in last year's attractions such musicians as Albert Spalding, Rudolph Ganz, Maggie Teyte, Fernanda Pratt and Madame Julia Claussen, besides the splendid local productions of the Oratorio company, the Philharmonic and the string quintette. The concert of Tuesday evening, December 14, will be given in the Ladies' Literary club and the members, for this one time will each be allowed one guest.

"My wife made me a success," remarked the man. "I am glad to hear you say that," declared his pastor. "Yes, she has always wanted so many things that I've just had to hustle."—Topeka Journal.
